Our range of Furphy Barbecues with Hand Sanitisers have been produced to promote clean and hygienic open spaces.

Furphy Barbecues are made in Australia at the Australian owned Furphy Foundry in Shepparton and have been manufactured under strict quality guidelines based on a commitment developed since 1864.

Furphy Barbecues with Hand Sanitisers provide an acute alignment of food handling areas and community hygiene with 5000 sprays per bottle and refills readily available and easy maintenance - adding to cleaning contract or stand alone servicing.

The integrated Hand Sanitising unit is for all open space users, powered from our Furphy Barbecue power source - no added installation costs along with a robust design for long life use.

Each design has its own set of features, enabling Furphy Barbecues with Hand Sanitisers to be matched with other assets and integrated into public environments.
